Curriculum: This Huffman K9 bite work seminar will be a comprehensive training course focusing on bite development, bite targeting, and the emotional state your k9 is in prior to and during bite.

Instructors will implement situation-based training events to first assess your dog, allowing prescribed training that will further your dog in its protection career and fix issues (i.e. environmental stress, handler stress and decoy confrontation issues). Dogs will develop better targeting, a deeper “punching in” bite, increase confidence while handling greater levels of environmental, emotional, physical and mental stressors.

Handlers will learn to recognize the dog’s emotional state and how to increase the dogs resilience to stressors, increase their confidence and continue to develop their dogs protection or apprehension performance. Handlers will learn to utilize tools like dog kits (Harness, Collars, Leashes, etc) to facilitate further training and continue the K9's path to success.

Both days will start with a class discussion covering topics such as basic terminology, psychology, K9 confidence, stress resilience, bite development, stability, types of aggression, targeting and decoying for dogs at various stages and ages. The rest of the day will be dedicated to bite work and training. Two professional decoys will be working with the dogs, each dog will have plenty of opportunities to train.

The HK9 Bitework and Bite Development Seminar is open to all ages of dogs, all skill levels of dog and all skill levels of handlers. Each handler will have the opportunity to watch and learn from other handlers and other dogs as well as participate in the debrief sessions for each dog.
